

A Perspective On Time for Fathers

(Source Unknown)

1. A child cherishes a father's presence above all else.
2. You have a very short time in which to be the major influence on your children's lives.
3. Little time = little influence.
4. You can't buy back lost time.
5. The world, deadlines, contracts, and so forth will always be there—your children won't.
6. You can almost never spend too much time with your family.
7. The thief in American homes today is over activity.
8. Whatever intimacy parents and teens enjoy is almost always cultivated before the age of twelve—rarely after it.
9. Out of quantity time come the quality moments.
10. If you make time with children when they are young, there will be opportunities and even requests from them when they are older.
